Season of Giving
2024

Your neighbor is struggling.

You see a home, a car, a young mom with two beautiful children. But what you don't see is the daily battle behind closed doors—the struggle to put food on the table, pay the rent, and keep the car running. And perhaps most devastating of all, you don't see how this family has been forced to put their health on the back burner.

Angie, a hardworking mom, was feeling run-down and breathless. A fever and chest pain brought her to All Care, where she learned she had pneumonia and was at high risk for complications like heart disease and stroke. Without prioritizing her health, how could she care for her family?

When families struggle to make ends meet, food and shelter take priority. Healthcare isn't considered until a serious illness strikes. By then, health issues have compounded in ways that feel overwhelming. Many people push through, hoping the problems will go away. But they don't. They worsen.

Angie faced an impossible choice: Should she buy her prescriptions or groceries? Could she wait until her next paycheck? Could she afford to put off her medicine just a little longer?

All Care's pharmacist recognized Angie's quiet worry. When asked, Angie admitted what too many others face: money was beyond tight. There wasn't enough for both medicine and food. Angie believed her only option was to put her family first and risk her health, hoping to get by until the end of the month.

Thanks to compassionate donors like you, Angie didn't have to choose. She left All Care with antibiotics and other critical prescriptions that same day—along with hope, peace of mind, and the ability to care for her children.

Every day, we hear stories like Angie's.

At All Care, we respond with unwavering compassion and support, but we cannot do it without you. Your gift to All Care's Health Equity Assistance Pharmacy Fund ensures that families like Angie's receive the medications they need without sacrificing essentials like food and housing. Your generosity eases their burdens and brings hope and healing to those in crisis.

Across our community, more and more people are in desperate need of affordable, comprehensive, high-quality healthcare. While the Health Equity Assistance Pharmacy Fund helps patients like Angie, today, All Care Health Center's Endow Iowa Fund is building long-term resources to ensure we can continue meeting the needs of our most vulnerable neighbors for years to come.

This holiday season, your gift can go even further. From November 25 through December 13, the Community Foundation of Western Iowa will add a 20% match to every donation made to our Endow Iowa Fund. Your $100 donation becomes $120, your $1,000 gift becomes $1,200, and your $10,000 gift becomes $12,000.

You can share the gift of good health.
